

Accomplishments

- ϕ Students in Pinellas will have more access to care next year. With funding by the Juvenile Welfare Board, the Pinellas County Health Department will open another school-based clinic at Boca Ciega High Schools. These will join existing clinics in Gibbs and Northeast to provide teens with a range of health services.
- ϕ A sixth health center opened is now providing more convenient services to the community. The Mid-County Health Center at 8751 Ulmerton Rd., Largo, offers medical and dental clinics and houses Environmental Services and Vital Statistics.
- ϕ The Pinellas County Health Department has begun the process to national accreditation via the Public Health Accreditation Board's process. This national not-for-profit measures quality and performance.
- ϕ A plaque from Florida TaxWatch's Prudential-Davis Productivity Awards went to the health department's WIC breastfeeding team for developing an electronic chart system that monitors moms and babies.
- ϕ The health department's federal Communities Putting to Work grant to combat the rising obesity rates has already scored some large wins. Cities, businesses, schools and places of worship have joined the effort by increasing physical activity options and providing healthier food choices.
- ϕ Health Department Director Claude M. Dharamraj, MD, MPH, FAAP was selected the Physician of the Year by the Pinellas County Medical Association for 2012. Florida's Surgeon General, John Armstrong, MD, presented the award.

"We are committed to providing quality public health services that protect the citizens of Pinellas County. We strive to demonstrate accountability and to treat you with courtesy."
